Lieutenant Commander Charles D. Martin was assigned to the USS Carl Vinson (CVN 70) and completed
Emily Bruno, MD

Emily is a diplomat-turned-doctor, coming to medicine after two years as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Ethiopia.
Amutha Rajagopal, MD

PGY-3

Bryan Long, MD

Bryan is a LCDR in the Navy completing a FTOS residency option. He completed his internship in internal medicine in New York City. Bryan is currently serving as a chief resident at the marine corps medical center in San Diego.
CURRENT RESIDENTS

Thomas Kocher, MD

Thomas is a board-certified pathologist with professional interests including cancer epidemiology in special populations and applications of molecular methods to epidemiology.

Marsha-Gail Davis, MD

Dr. Davis originally hails from the beautiful island of Jamaica. She received her BA from Swarthmore College and went on to complete her MD at the University of Pennsylvania. She enjoys doing anything creative, cooking and most importantly eating. She also speaks Spanish and is skilled in public speaking.
Angelo Asheh, DO

Angelo was born and raised in New England and has since migrated to the West Coast. Angelo began his journey in medical school in his native state before deciding to pursue a career in the West. He then began his residency training in internal medicine, focusing on addiction and preventive medicine. Angelo has a strong passion for helping patients overcome their addictions and is committed to improving the public's understanding of addiction and its treatment. He believes that by educating people on how to use all the tools at their disposal, we can prevent illnesses and assist those with addiction disorders.

Christopher Granda, DO

Christopher Granda, DO

Christopher Granda was born and raised in southern California. He attended medical school in the Midwest and completed his residency training in internal medicine. Christopher has a particular interest in addiction medicine and believes that by understanding the root causes of addiction, we can develop more effective treatment plans. He is passionate about helping patients overcome their addictions and is committed to improving the public's understanding of addiction and its treatment. Christopher believes that by educating people on how to use all the tools at their disposal, we can prevent illnesses and assist those with addiction disorders.
CURRENT RESIDENTS

Anastasia Maletz, DO

Anastasia is a home grown Oregonian who loves good food and the great outdoors. Having grown up with fresh local produce and close control of their own health through what they eat, how they move, and by creating health in the environment around them.

Michael Austin, DO

Dr. Austin is currently an active duty US Navy physician born and raised in beautiful Sonoma County, Northern California. He received his medical education at the University of California, San Francisco School of Medicine with a particular interest in linking diet, exercise and environmental determinants to disease prevention.